“ My Aunt Barbara was one of a kind. She was fiercely loyal to family and friends and you never had to worry about her being in your corner. I have many great memories of her, but one particular is that she took me on my first trip to the beach. While on that trip she bought me my first string bikini. We always had so much fun together and could talk for hours. My dad sometimes got exasperated with me and would say, “you’re just like Barbara Ann!” That thrilled me to my toes, because I wanted to be just like her. I don’t know how to do life without you, but you aren’t a quitter and neither am I. I hope I make you proud everyday! I love you and miss you so very much. Your loving niece, Susie

“ Barb (aka) Maude was “big” in every way. Her heart wasn’t big enough to contain all of the love she had for her family and friends. She never met a stranger and, if she called you friend, she stayed in touch regardless of the length of friendship. Her smile and laugh were big and contagious. She was loyal in a big way, sometimes to a fault but always there to defend and support those she loved. She was a big cook always preparing enough to feed everyone and send all home with leftovers. No one ever turned down leftovers as she was a great cook. For those closest to Barbara, you could count on the fact that she would know how to “push your buttons” and she did. We would get upset and push back. Needless to say, you knew there would be good, challenging conversations. I’m her daughter in law but she loved me as her own. She loved my style, my hugs, and how I love her son Scott. Barbara has only been gone from this earth a few days but the impact is huge. No one can fill her shoes or the holes left in many hearts. We are heartbroken but we rejoice that she is no longer in pain and that she’s giving God a good chuckle. RIP sweet lady.

“ Aww we were young when we first met 51 years ago. She was kicked in a room at UPS counting money and I was in the office next to her. We bonded immediately and since we both had Boys we became friends away from work. I even made summer shorts for her. She was fearless, strong, loving and was loyal to her friendships. Always with a big smile and a bigger heart. Oh I will miss our talks and her talking about her family whom she loved dearly. I'll miss my friend and I know she's smiling down on us she never lost her faith and is Wrapped in the arms of God.
