“ I still can't believe you're gone bro.

“ Though our time of knowing each other was brief, and it's like a blink and you were gone... You were so kind to me. A kindred spirit of sorts. I'll never forget you to be the only person to just come and talk to me, no matter the time or how long of a shift you worked. You saw how lonely I was as a single mother and from the moment we started talking, you checked in.. thank you for showing me kindness in your last days... It saddens me deeply to know those days are gone. I will forever cherish your smiling face as you proudly told me about your sobriety. How shocked it made you when your dog didn't growl or bark at me when you brought him around. Thank you for just being a good person to me. Rest easy now sweet lady.

“ Oh shug. Through all the love, all the hate, through all of everything. I know I did my best. Even in my worst moments I tried. You did too. I won't ever forget our first Christmas or our last fight. The good and the bad. There was only one you. May God have mercy on us all without you around. May you finally have the peace that you so deserve and that you sought after. Safe journey traveler. I will see you again.

“ I loved you then now and forever. Looking on your beautiful face today made me smile. I was nervous to look but you looked so calm and peaceful and at rest. Where ever you go whatever you do you will ALWAYS be my baby and I will ALWAYS love you 💔

“ I miss you so much. I thought you were busy Friday. I needed you. I still do. You were the ultimate sour patch kid, but the sweetness was more than enough. I found out tonight you're gone. No one told me until after the service. I loved to hear you sing. I never wanted to change you, but I wish I could have comforted you or helped get that car I showed you, and now, you're not here. Please haunt me if you can so that losing you doesn't.

“ Oh Brit 😊 why are we always forced to live without the biggest, brightest , most unique souls? As in tune as you’ve always been with the universe, I know that you’ll send me a sign and visit me when you can. So many hellos to say where you are ❤️ So many reunions. It’ll always be so hard to understand how someone so full of wonder isn’t out here creating more reality for us daily. You brought so much pain, anger, joy, happiness , excitement , entertainment, art, insight, huge brilliant ideas, to every soul you encountered. You left us for better things. I’ll have to take you on in me as a part of myself now. I will never let your alter egos, little voices, silly made up words and nicknames, completely awe striking style , bigger than life and intelligent original conspiracies (which I completely fell for no matter what) leave me. Those personalities you held all in that little cute person will never be forgotten, not by me and not by your loved ones. You would have been there for me until we were as old as dust and we probably would have tried to kill each other a couple more times. That’s the beauty in you, the fierceness. You knew your worth and didn’t care if someone couldn’t see it. It spoke for itself. As cliché as it may be , I don’t believe the world can contain such beauty but only for so long. I am happy that you’re now enlightened to the level you always strived for in life. ❤️ That longing for all of the answers took you from me, cam and your family but we were too small for you. If anyone would come back to drop me a hint it’d be you! I’m waiting, forever waiting. I love you so much.
