“ Clyde was a man that I am honored to say was my father-in-law. The first day I met him I was extremely nervous. I knew how Southern dads were about their baby girls. But when I first met him he accepted me into his family with open arms. I had known his daughter for a long time and I was hoping to marry her. When I asked for his Blessing he didn't even hesitate I was grateful to have him in my life, so many wonderful memories in the five years that I had the honor of knowing him. He wasn't just my father-in-law he was my dad my best friend and he was the one that got me closer to God. I know right now he's standing next to Jesus looking down at us with that big Goofy grin. I think the biggest thing I'm going to miss about him what's the sense of humor. It would make me laugh every single time anybody mentioned how much Misty and him we're so much alike. Carolyn would always say that Clyde must have been the one to give birth to her lol. Rest in peace Clyde I'll see you in heaven when it's my time.
