“ To the most precious, caring, giving, mothering, mommy there ever was! Oh how I miss you so much! How I wish I could just hug and kiss you one more time. Tell you how beautiful you are and how much I love you! It's not the same here without you. I want my mom back! The girls miss you, I miss you! You helped raise so many people in your lifetime. You were momma to so many, making sure people were safe, warm, that they had enough to eat, or just giving advise! I know that you are up there with Amanda and Brandon and that you are finally getting the break and rest you needed! I love you more than you will ever know! Hallie and I will do everything we can to make sure we make you proud! Please keep an eye on us and help guide us to make the right decisions. Until we meet again, I love you momma!

As I sit reading about your passing, I can't help feeling so sad that I somehow lost you in the years. I smile remembering how contagious was your smile and how effortlessly your laughter could continue on and on and somehow you never seemed to never to lose steam. I remember how we could make a night the best night ever just riding around with David, Mark, Marsha, and Sheila singing Aerosmith and Elton John songs so loud that we could without a doubt put modern-day boom boxes to shame. We thought we were great singers and we weren't wrong! I'm so sorry that I lost you through the years. I'm so sorry that I'll never hear your beautiful laugh again or eat another of your chocolate oatmeal cookies. But this thing I'm sure of and that is we were rock stars and I know that you are belting out "Amazing Grace" to God and his angels, never missing a beat and some day we'll do it together. Until then, I'll miss you my friend.
