“ I'ma miss sitting on the porch and u asking me to brush your hair and as soon as I would be about to put it up in a pony tail you would tell me it's still knotted up but I believe you just wanted me to keep brushing it lol. Our long talks on the porch every night. U waking me up 30 minutes before my alarm just to make sure I knew it was about to be time to go to work. U telling me u love me and to be careful heading to work cause it was early in the morning. And that you would see me later. The misspelled text messages while I'm at work. These are all things I will hold close to my heart. The time you let me drive your stick shift truck and I blew the damn clutch up in it 🙄. You weren't even mad. Or at least u didn't show it. These along with many other things I will always cherish. I love u poppi keep the stars shining up there. Til I see u again
