“Herschel was a friend, brother, confidant, helper and advisor. He was an "adopted" son for my father. We spent many fun times together, dining out, watching tv, riding in his mustang or at his shop where he fixed my many problems. His kindness will always be remembered as well as his infectious smile. We shared many memories of our life as children and as adults. We laughed at our many times we planned to eat out and ended up at Cracker Barrel in Gadsden. I will miss many things but one that was consistent was his request for apples from the store in Jacksonville. The most precious memory as of now is the last day that I saw him when he gave me a hug and told me how appreciative he was for all I did for him. When he has spent the first thousand years in heaven, I hope he will take time to say hello to his second dad, James E. Nichols.
