“ You left too soon without saying goodbye. You were not supposed to be sick. You could not have been so sick to be fighting for your life. We had just had a weekend of hiking. You were cracking all kinds of jokes. You and I were laughing and having the best time. I will forever hold the last memory of us together.... We said our usual I love you, kissed and I watched you pull out of my driveway. I had no idea that it would be the last time. If I knew it would be the last time, I would have held you a little longer and a little tighter. Thank you for being my best friend before anything. Thank you for our million silly inside jokes. Thank you for the endless laughs. Thank you for the millions of sweet compliments that made a smile spread across my face. Thank you for always loving my dog because she loves you too. Thank you for always listening when I just needed to talk, and sitting with me when I just needed you by my side. Thank you for always being my personal cheerleader. Thank you for showing me how to stop and enjoy every moment in life. Thank you for being the best friend anyone could ask for. Thank you for being the ‘fun one’. Thank you for always making me feel beautiful. Thank you for slowly and carefully taking apart the high walls I built around my heart. Thank you for the big bear hugs that felt like you were holding me together. Thank you for loving me unconditionally, and through that sweet love, teaching me how to love. Thank you for making me feel so important, as you did to everyone you encountered. Thank you for being the prime example of living a life to the fullest. Thank you for loving me. Thank you for making life a wonderful adventure. Thank you for all the things that you taught me. Thank you for simply being you. You did more for me than I ever let you know.
