“ It seems the good ones always leave far too early. JT was one of the better people I've known during my time at HMA. We work together at line 2 weld, then both eventually ended up at line 1 in different departments. We shared a locker close by and would always stop and chat between shifts, mostly about our kids. I remember when he and his wife were expecting their son. As a father myself, I would talk to him and share all the great things about fatherhood. He seemed so excited about the arrival of his son. And man, let me tell you, I have never seen a father beam with so much pride when his son finally arrived. I'm pretty sure he had his phone out for about 10 minutes just showing picture after picture. I knew what he was feeling, and I knew that man right there knew what was important in life. I knew he would be an incredible father and family man. I'm deeply saddened by his passing, and my heart is with his family.
