“ I have so many memories so far back as I can remember. She was a strong woman. The hardest working woman I have ever seen. Such a huge part of my childhood memories!!! My mom and I would stop by the store when my son Braxton was 3 or 4 and then some. She loved it. Always took him around the store and helped him pick out anything he wanted. She just loved him and all kids! Love you Sissy!!! Wish I would have told that!!!! Now you are with momma, Your mom and sister and the rest of our family! Cheryle was waiting on you. RIP! Love you Angie! I know that you really made some great memories with Sissy! Rhonda❤️

“ I have so many memories of Sissy its hard to pull just one out. She was the first person who ever made me snow ice cream. I was around 11 or 12 years old. I had spent the night with Angie and we woke up to snow. She sent us out with big spoons and bowls to gather all the top layer snow. It was Sunday and she always had to work. ...but she would cook a big dinner before she left. That day I had my first taste of a drunken chicken and homemade ice cream. It was all so delicious. Its been over 40 years and I remeber it like it was yesterday. She the only woman I ever knew that worked as many hours as my own mother. She always made a point to make sure I knew that if I ever needed anything to come to her. .. I always had to promise her that I would never do without. She ranked top of my list on big hearts and I loved her. No stronger woman ever lived. If life gets hard... I dig way down deep for strength I never even knew I had. She taught me that. I think she taught a lot of us that. RIP Sissy. I love you forever.

When my daughter married Jim we were automatically included. Everybody on both sides of the families were invited. She was a great cook and prepared for many relatives and friends. Will miss this sweet lady. Thinking of James and family.
