Paula had just sent me a friend request and I accepted it. She told me about how she knew me and from then on we would talk and she had seen where I had just found out I had lung cancer and she asked me if I was having different things going on with my cancer. I told her that I was one of the lucky ones who was just in the 1st stage and she was telling me about all of the symptoms she was having and I would have never thought she was going down so fast. Love you Paula and I will see you again. Praying for her family and her grandbabies and grandbabies. 🙏
