“ Mine and Rodney's journey began 6 yrs ago when I started at IAC. We immediately hit it off and became friends. We worked closely together for years and both moved up into management positions. Rodney as QA manager and myself as Ops manager. The senior management group there at that time were not just colleagues but family! We all cared about one another, fought with one another, loved one another and helped one another. But Rodney and I developed a very close relationship. He became my best friend! There was a 20 yr gap in our age but you would never know it. We talked before work, during work and after work! We talked about work, about family, about faith, about hunting, about life in general. We had lunch together just about daily, worked on so many projects together and had so much fun.

Some days we would just take walks around the building just to vent to one another about work, our boss, our wives, our kids, school and Rodney about the grandkids. He loved his family so much!

I left IAC in July of 2020 and Rodney and I continued to talk daily at first and then at least weekly. Rodney has had some trials over the last year but kept faith in God and continued to push through. I spoke to Rodney the week before he got sick and he was in high spirits about what God was doing for him and his family!

Rodney was a real friend, a true friend, a friend who would listen, a friend who never told anything you said. A friend who cared about you in the good times and the bad. He was a great man who would drop everything to help you with one thing. A man who loved his wife, children and grandkids with everything he had. There are so many things I could say about Rodney but they would never compare to when you got the real thing!

Rodney you were a great friend and I will truly miss our conversations, our weekly calls and just hearing your voice. Go rest with our lord brother and be at those gates when I get there. I'll see you soon!

“Rodney was a very good man. I worked with him from the day he started working at Ampro and then became IAC. We worked on many projects together when he was the Metrologist and then he went to safety. Then he became my Quality Manager. He was the best one I ever had. He always worried about me getting COVID because of my health issues. I retired on 1/29/2021 and he was part of my retirement party. He called me a few weeks back and said he was going to stop by and see me. I will see you on the other side when I get there. My heart is broken that such a good person has left. Prayers for the family and my deepest condolences. 8/19/2021 was my 35th wedding anniversary and I will always celebrate my Brother on that day. I'll always remember the bull shitting sessions we had in his office and him pounding on the wall when he needed me, our offices was right next to each other. Love ya Brother always.”

“ I had the honor of working with Rodney for 3 years at IAC. I say honor because this man was truly an amazing soul. He was kind, caring, honest, respectful, and always looked after everyone. Even with the stress that you have on the job he always kept calm and knew how to soften any conversation. He will forever be my work dad, as he was to many others. He will be greatly missed and I will always cherish the 3 years I got to work with this amazing man.

“ Rodney, you are one in a million! You and Lynn have stepped up for so many people. Every kid was treated like your own grandkids, especially jade. Y'all are kind and generous. From buying groceries for the needy to buying toys for other peoples kid's Christmas gifts. There's very few people in this world today that care, but you did. You will be terribly missed.
