“mommy,
Where do I begin? A mothers loves is the warmest, most trusted, love beyond words. A true companion to fight for you, love you unconditionally and stand proud by you. It's the most honorable feeling in the world. I'm beyond Blessed to have been given the opportunity of a life time to be your daughter. You've shown me so much and I can not thank you enough. Everything I'm becoming is a reflection of you. Your beauty, your love and your passion for life. I see the amazing perfection God gave me to guide and protect me . I am so thankful for everything you've done for me and the love you've always shown me (even when I swore to God you didn't) you NEVER let me down. Your the best!! Now your free to do as you please. Your with bubby and papaw and everyone else you love so dearly. I will continue to honor you mom. I will continue to love and protect your grandchildren. I'll always be sober. I'll serve GOD all my living day's. It's still not really sinking in your not here. I again thank you for showing me strength. Because I need it more than ever now. Well atleast the grass is greener on your side. I love you MOM.

“I'm so used to texting her every day even if its just checking up on each other and my whole world stops when I realize I can't do that anymore. Just yesterday something happened and I pulled out my phone to text her until I remember. The other day I turned around in the car to ask her something and remembered. And the situations where you're so used to her being there it's so hard to get through. But in all those situations she's still there, listening to me talk and waiting for my question. She's still there when we need her. She was so loved, and loved so much; even if she gave you silly nicknames....Thumper misses you Auntie.

“ Darlene had the heart of a tiger, the spirit of a race horse and a soul bound for heaven from the day she was born. Darlene never asked or expected special treatment but always gave special treatment putting others first. She fought cancer for over 3 years and now she is in heaven with the ones she loves there. She has left a whole that can never be filled. From the beginning there was a celestial bonding; something way beyond friendship. If you know her life then you know she was jumping hurdles from the day she was born and without any complications or self pity; infact near the last she would still say "oh I'm doing fine "; when asked. The doctor said we had a celestial connection together and I must say we new each other better than we knew ourselves and as a peace comes over me right this minute; I know what the doctor ment. I will keep that connection till we meet again. I can't say goodbye
