“ Oh where to start with all the priceless memories of our dear friend. He loved to wear one black glove and walk around like he had a disabled hand😂
He even did it playing cornhole a time or two:)
Todd was like a brother to me and Shon and we will have to figure out our new normal without Todd being around everyday.
We love you buddy and miss you so much but we have comfort in knowing we will see you again -Free bird!!!

I remember Todd as a co worker at barber diary. Great person , great salesman. He could sell ice to the eskimos. Everybody Todd meet luv him. I remember the fishing trips. Todd luv to fish. I remember the golf trips. I remember motorcycle trips. I remember the nascar race trips Talladega, Atlanta and Daytona. Todd was bigger than life. But GOD had other greater plan for Todd. Todd was called to heaven to do better and bigger things. Fly high in heaven Todd till we see you again. Amen

All I can say is he was best buddy. He told me and all his friend he loved us everytime he left or we left, and those big ok hugs when I needed a friend. His quick wit was one of a kind for sure. His Corn hole game was the same. I loved that big guy and he loved us all just as much if not more. I'll miss you Big Todd, I'll see you in heaven brother.

I met Todd when he worked for me around the yard and forest. We became friends on our snack breaks when we chatted about the things that he love, his family topped the list followed by his pets, the beach and motorcycles, etc. Oh how he loved Rosie. He brought her to work and it was such a delight to see them together. So cute to see how a puppy could make a baby out of such a big man. You can always tell the quality of a person by how they treat animals. I will miss those fun chats and that bigger than life smile. Ride on, big guy, ride free!
